Gregorian Choir at La Belle Chapelle - An experience of joy

Record Staff
SHERBROOKE

Sherbrooke music lovers will have a rare opportunity to experience the majesty of Gregorian Chant, an ancient religious musical form, next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 20, at La Belle Chapelle at 500 Murray St. in Sherbrooke.

Beginning at 3 p.m. the Sherbrooke Gregorian Choir promises an opportunity to enjoy a rare experience; Gregorian chant is an invitation to hope and the theme of the concert will be "Joy opens the future of man."

Gregorian chant is sometimes called the "song of the soul" and expresses all the great emotions of life: sadness, depression, imploring, anger, serenity, and joy.

For this concert, intended as a meditation, the Gregorian Choir will invite listeners to follow the path that runs from the cry of the suffering person, to pleading, and to confidence, which leads to joy.

The Sherbrooke Gregorian Choir, founded in 1996, has as its mission to help keep alive the memory of a repertoire whose origins date back to the 5th century.

The concert takes place under the direction of Yvan Cloutier, assisted by pianist Marc O'Reilly and reader Danielle Tremblay.

Magog man killed in road accident

Record Staff

A 41-year-old Magog man was killed early last Friday morning on Chemin Saint-Catherine-de-Hatley. The victim, Robert Côté, from Magog, was apparently not wearing his seat belt, and was pronounced dead on arrival at the Magog Hospital.

The accident occurred at the end of a marked curve heading towards Sainte-Catherine-de-Hatley.

"Speed and loss of control on a wet road could be the cause of the accident," says Memphremagog Police spokesperson Lt. Sylvain Guay. "As a result of the loss of control, the vehicle struck a culvert before ending up in the entrance of a residence where the victim was found. The vehicle is severely damaged."

"The man did not answer when police spoke to him. They found that he didn't have any vital signs," Guay adds.

Accident scene investigation specialists from the Memphremagog Police Force were sent to the scene to investigate.

Annual Rock-A-Thon

finger foods for all to enjoy. For some of the rockers who have been doing this event for many years, careful attention was top priority so as not to receive a penalty for stopping rocking for even a second. For first timers, who had to do everything from clucking like a chicken to acting out a soap opera scene if their rocker stopped, some hard lessons in embarrassment were quickly learned.

Funds raised through donations from generous businesses and kind supporters will be used to purchase a large television for the centre. This will enable the youth from the various groups to enjoy hockey viewing evenings, movie nights, game play and more... Thanks to free cable from Axion, groups can now access sports, documentaries, the history channel and a variety of other programming.
