After much planning and preparation, the Missisquoi North Volunteer Centre (CAB) Partage/Share Food Bank in Potton delivered food baskets to some 33 families in need on Wednesday, December 21. The work begins long before the delivery day but the last few days prior to delivery are a busy time.

This year prior to the event, some 20 volunteer “elves,” committee members and staff were on hand in the three days of preparation and planning involved in making the Christmas baskets possible. The Partage/Share committee is very active throughout the year providing emergency food for requests but at Christmastime, the focus is on providing families with food needed to make the holidays a little brighter.

“I would like to thank all who took part in making the annual Christmas basket campaign another successful endeavour,” said Claire Alger, Chairperson of the Partage/Share committee. “My sincere gratitude to all the volunteers who participated in this years preparation and delivery of the baskets. Their generosity is overwhelming!”

For CAB employee, Jennifer McGeean who spearheaded this year’s delivery day and prep, the feeling of accomplishment and kindness is almost overwhelming.

“It is always a big job and things can get a little hectic,” shared McGeean. “When it is all over however, you just feel good inside and it truly warms my heart.”

“You are able to give all that we do because of the generosity of others,” explained McGeean. “Some people stop in with a monetary donation while others stop by with bags and boxes of food. It is truly amazing.”

As the last boxes were delivered on Wednesday, hugs were exchanged and smiles shared by those who had worked so hard to make this possible for another successful year.

At this time of year, getting involved with a project like a food bank is the perfect way to remind us all of the joy of giving to and helping others. Help is needed throughout the year as well so it is never too late to get involved.
