Summer continues to blossom with activities in Potton

THE SCOOP MABLE HASTINGS

With the Spirit of Potton Festival now successfully passed and with a variety of local county fairs taking place, the evenings are a little cooler and fall is calling. Summer however is not quite ready to surrender her outdoor activities nor the opportunity for some outdoor fun. Sundays in the Park organized by Martin Dostie continue in Potton for one last Sunday where folk are encouraged to come and enjoy free live music performed in the heart of the village of Mansonville in Place Manson, located in front of the Town Hall. Attendees are asked to bring a chair, pack a picnic and enjoy jazz, folk, country, blue grass, Celtic, rhythm and blues.... Throughout the summer this event has been well attended every weekend and the talent lined up has been phenomenal. Aug. 28 will feature Radio M. The Mansonville Public Market continues to offer fresh produce every Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the

Round Barn site along the Main Street in Mansonville. Come and enjoy shopping in the great outdoors and support local producers. Produce is evolving and each week promises something new and wonderful to purchase and enjoy. The playground area and newly installed equipment located conveniently next to the outdoor water park is being frequented non-stop by children and families daily in the Park Andre Gagnon nestled along the Missisquoi River. The area is inviting and offers a perfect location for family picnics, day camp gatherings and school outings. There are many businesses in the town offering a variety of reasons to stop in Mansonville and tour the village. From the Reilly House (clothing, second hand gift shop, books and more) to local eateries serving Polish cuisine, homemade baked goods, ice cream shops, the local coffee shop, a new brasserie, and more including honey producers, blueberry farms, and specialty shops to art galleries and artisans... As fall approaches it brings with it some important upcoming events in Potton as well. The Potton Fire Department will host a blood drive on Tuesday, September

6 (behind the Town Hall at 2, Vale Perkins), from 1:30 to 7:30 p.m. The drive is a collaborative event between the Fire Department, Hema-Quebec and the local FamiliPrix Pharmacy of Mansonville. We are reminded that every donation saves lives. To register call:1- 800-343-7264. Owls Head Ski and Golf will surely celebrate as the majestic mountain dons her fall coat of many colours in late September offering breathtaking views bathed in fall foliage nestled on the shores of beautiful Lake Memphrémagog. Watch for advertising as this is a display not to be missed! Fall programs will restart at the local Missisquoi North Volunteer Centre(CABMN) for seniors as well as youth and programs for those with intellectual and physical challenges will continue at the Youth Centre building. For more information about these programs visit the CABMN website at www.cabmn.org The start up of the 2022-23 school year always brings with it a variety of activities and projects. So get out and enjoy these last few weeks of summer and keep an eye and ear open as the local county fairs subside knowing that the autumn season will bring new activities and fun to our regions.
